

Tim D'Arcy Group Manager, Government Services

Why didn't someone show me this 20 years ago!!

"Tim's style is very engaging and he adapts his presentation to suit his audience, thereby ensuring maximum engagement and benefit for very busy Senior Executives. We have all benefited from his knowledge and experience and noted the value in terms of improved productivity."

Tim changes forever the way people work.

Based on his vast and ever-evolving knowledge of workplace productivity, Tim instils productivity practices for people to get more important things done. He helps individuals achieve greater productivity, and immense time and cost savings. His audiences tell him that he has an immediate impact on how they work.

By helping people to release their administrative burdens and achieving what matters most, he makes people feel good about their work. They feel empowered, happier and motivated. This in turn means significant cost and time savings, employee vigour and exuberance, and greater employee retention.

After a long career in the Queensland State and Australian Public Service, Tim has coached Admirals, Generals, Air Marshals, Secretaries, and Dep. Secretaries and SES Executives in Federal and State Governments as well as significant number of Private Sector organisations. He has helped develop Executives in most Commonwealth Government agencies. In fact, many of today's SES and Senior Government Executives have been pepped by Tim.

Tim has coached in excess of 2,500 people and has conducted over 12,000 hours of on-the-job coaching.

Tim's qualifications include:
Bachelor of Education (Majoring in Adult Education)
Master of Education (Training & Development)
